The problem

A healthcare company needed to teach a new goal-setting framework to their employees.

Historically, they only used instructor-led classes. But they were curious...

Could a game-based training be cheaper and more engaging?

In addition to LEARNING objectives...

- ✓ Prove gamification doesn't break the bank
- ✓ Keep satisfaction scores above 90%
- ✓ Get them to drink the Gamification Kool-Aid!

...oh, and still teach people how to write goals in a brand-new33 format.

Our solution

Develop a card game prototype within 20 hours. Launch and compare against standard training methods.

Rule the World: The Game for Writing OKRs

The Story

You're an evil genius trying to set a goal for global domination.

The Mechanics

Collect cards to form Key Result statements.

- Make archetypes work for you

#gamicon2k19

What's a "game"?

A framework for motivating someone to perform a specific action.

Challenge #2

*Teach people the four steps for attaching jumper cables.
Do it using a "Voyage and Return" story.*
